- As dentists we all know the importance of developing our technical skills. Maybe more importantly it is to develop our behaviors. These skills will be used in all aspects of our lives as well as all in the lives of others. I recommend the Great Managers Program at Gallup for this personal development. Ben Patrick
- The experience of the Gallup Great Managers Program with Rich Green has been an eye-opening, direction-clarifying experience for me. I leave here with a clearer vision of my next steps. I have enough next steps to keep me busy professionally, personally and introspectively for the next year! I would recommend the learning to anyone who has that question for which they may not see the answer. Dave Lomasney
- Like a small child I stood at the bottom of the waterfall- wide eyed and feeling the mist. This course allowed me the honor and grace of rejoicing in my unique set of strengths and they could create endless possibilities. The tools learned are the equipment to climb to the top of the waterfall. The splendor of the view on top will be equally wonderful and unique.
- This experience has begun the journey; which no doubt, provides many climactic outcomes.
- In everyone's lifetime- we all have the opportunity to experience a meaningful event, mentor or learning experience that becomes a pivot point in our growth or direction. The Gallop "Great Manager's Program" is such an event. The tools and concepts learned in three days will impact your professional, personal and family life – in the most positive of ways! Fred Slete
- As a dentist we have the greatest fulfillment when we help others. This course will allow you to know your strengths and apply them so that you can really feel the next level of joy.
- I have been involved in many groups, courses and activities. I was skeptical, even doubtful when I registered to take the Gallup Great Manager's Program. This was one of the most impactful endeavors I have experienced; very high, if not top of the list. Looking at my strengths is life changing. I highly recommend Gallup GMP as an integral part of the process and philosophy of excellence.
- This course is as important as all the technical courses I have ever taken. It has helped by giving me the tools to work with my staff and patients to be the most effective and allowing me to do my best.
